Featuring Dr. Ellen Arnold

Thursday, November 20, 2008

5:00 – 7:00 pm

Radisson Hotel Corning
Denison Parkway

Dr. Ellen Arnold is addicted to understanding how people learn and helping people maximize their potential. She has been a teacher since 1965 and has taught all levels, from preschool through graduate school. She is in private practice, and splits her time between college teaching, consulting to school districts and agencies, and doing diagnostic interviews and strength based assessments. She travels across the country providing upbeat, informative and interactive conferences, workshops and seminars through SDE, (Staff Development for Educators)., She taught and supervised graduate students at the Thomas Reynolds Center for Special Education at Daemen College in Buffalo. She is the Learning Strategies Academy Coordinator in their after school program for elementary students with learning disabilities.

Ellen has previously taught at Nazareth College of Rochester, Rochester Institute of Technology, Colgate Rochester Divinity School and Monroe Community College. She holds a Bachelors Degree in Education and Social Sciences from the University of Michigan, a Masters Degree in Special Education from Duke University and a Doctorate in Higher Education from Nova Southeastern University. She has authored 14 books and dozens of articles. Her newest book, MI Strategy Banks: 800+ strategies for the elementary classroom, is being used by child study teams across the country. You can find out more about her travels and her work at www.arncraft.com.

She has served as a member of the Rochester Area College Consortium of Disability Advocates and served on the New York State Education Department Task Force on Postsecondary & Disabilities.

- What post-secondary experiences will be right for your student?
- How do you decipher what information is relevant for each individual?

In this interactive session; you will learn what questions to ask that are crucial in helping your student obtain the necessary services he or she could benefit from in a college environment.
