Invites you to explore accessible, digital learning options

We are pleased to announce that on, July 15th and 16th, school professionals will have an opportunity to attend an informational session on a literacy initiative supported in this final year by the Model Transition Program.

Mr. Kenneth Grisham, President / CEO and co-founder of Premier Literacy will deliver six 2-hour sessions over the course of the two days. You are invited to attend any of the scheduled sessions. Premier Assistive Technology, Inc., established in 1998, is a leading developer of Assistive Technology software and devices created to meet the reading and writing needs for people of all ages at home, school and work. We have the ability to fiscally support all schools within the Alfred Almond, Corning, Bath and GST MTP consortiums. If you chose to participate, there should be little to no cost to your school. It is essential that you have an opportunity to learn more about the various aspects of how literacy technologies can benefit all students in their learning as well as educators in their instruction. Research is clear students that graduates with literacy independence have a stronger likelihood of transitioning with success.

Each session will discuss issues that may impact your functional area of responsibility, and we also demonstrate first-hand exactly how some of these technologies work. We expect these sessions to consist of both a presentation as well as a round-table discussion to get all attendees thinking about the challenges and opportunities. We are suggesting time slots Wednesday and Thursday as follows depending on your respective areas of responsibility:
